The only date that can be found on this document is located at the end of the manuscript. It appears to be December, 1787. However, as the condition of the original document is so poor it is impossible to verify if this date refers to the preceding material or not.

Several pages of notes follow the list of Officers and Regiments. The notes appear to contain legal proceedings. However, as the writing is almost unreadable as a result of damage to the original manuscripts, it is almost impossible to determine the exact nature of the material.
